We are in the midst of the worst drug crisis in US history. The prescription drug and heroin epidemic is front-page news. However, alcohol, marijuana, amphetamines and other drugs are frequently abused, and can be just as deadly. Drug addiction does not discriminate on the basis of age, race or socioeconomic level.

Our children are faced with deciding whether or not to use drugs at younger ages than ever before. We encourage parents and other concerned family members to attend this program in order to learn about:

- Drugs popular with teens and young adults today
- Signs and symptoms of drug use
- Effects of use on health, relationships, and life goals
- Local resources
- Where to get help
