

Independent Contractor/Group Facilitator

The Center for Humanistic Change (CHC) seeks Independent Contractors/Group Facilitators to lead a variety of life skills and different programs for youth and adults in the Lehigh Valley. We have a strong need for bilingual contractors with daytime availability. For a full list of our current programs, please go to <https://www.thechc.org/programs/>.

Our independent contractors deliver services based on their specific professional education, training, and experience, as well as their ability to provide services independently. Key skills include:

- Ability to engage and retain program participants through a variety of educational strategies.
- Knowledge of and experience with interactive/experiential learning models and with managing group dynamics.
- Willingness to serve as a role model for participants, especially concerning behaviors and attitudes that relate to CHC program topics.
- Understanding of and respect for each individual's rights and differences in learning styles, background, beliefs, and values.
- High standard of professionalism in all aspects of delivering CHC programs.
- Transportation to and from program facilities. If contractor is using own automobile for transportation, contractor must maintain the minimum automobile insurance as required by law.
- Commitment to ongoing cultivation of skills and knowledge in relevant fields, including substance use and other prevention topics, facilitation techniques, child development, child welfare, and current best practices in group dynamics and facilitation.
